

Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Tuesday 21 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Dry, bright for most. Cloudy, damp Northwest later. Strengthening winds.

Today:

Much of Scotland will have another dry, bright day with plenty of sunshine. Northwest Scotland and Northern Isles will become cloudy with a little rain this afternoon, edging eastwards this evening. Southwesterly gales developing across northern Scotland.

Tonight:

A dry night in most places with clear periods. Rain over northwest Scotland and Northern Isles becoming persistent and heavy later, accompanied by southwesterly gales.

Wednesday:

Dry, bright morning over south and east Scotland. Rain in Northwest, heavier for a short time, edging southeastwards, fizzling out in south during evening. Drier, brighter, less windy weather following.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:

North and West Scotland mostly cloudy with rain at times. South and East will be drier and brighter. Northwesterly gales in north at first on Thursday, possibly severe over Shetland.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.